

PARTICIPATORY LOCAL DEVELOPMENT AND SOCIAL SOLIDARITY ECONOMY IN EUROPEAN EXPERIENCES AND POLICIES

9 open online meetings in 3 training cycles between November 2024 and March 2025 dedicated to the topic of participatory local development from the perspective of social solidarity economy and within the framework of national and European policies supporting it.

A rich programme that will deal with different topics at European level:

- How to build community? How to build local and economic development from the community?
- Artistic & cultural alternative places in urban contexts: tools of local democracy in the ecological transition?
- Urban-rural relationship: how to build resilient communities through short supply chains in the global food system?

Some case studies will be analysed and concrete examples from Italy, France and Romania (but not only!) will be used to understand some key theoretical concepts proposed by experts and researchers invited to speak.

The policies that at European level but also in the different national contexts are supporting these processes will be highlighted.

The involvement of the participants in a peer to peer logic will be encouraged by activating links at transnational level between small organisations sharing the same challenges on territories in different parts of Europe.
